

NEWSPAPER MEN VISIT ONE OF BRITAIN'S GREAT NAVAL BASES

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
LONDON, Jan. 8.—Under escort of officers assigned by the admiralty, a correspondent of the Associated Press and a party of foreign journalists were given the first opportunity to visit one of the great naval bases on the coast where cruisers, destroyers and submarines are assembled for their watch over the North sea and from which point big ocean-going submarines are sent on forages to the Baltic and the Dardanelles.

You'll enjoy hearing the new January Victor records

The New Victor Records for January are just out—and we're right on hand with the complete list. If there are any particular numbers you'd like to hear, we'll gladly play them for you.

A Few of the New Arrivals.

87221—The Rosary, sung by Ernestine Schumann-Heink, contralto, 10 inch, $2.00. In order to make her interpretation of this Nevin song available to a larger circle, Mme. Schumann-Heink has made this 10 inch record. One of her most beautiful songs.

87208—The Monotone, sung in English by Alma Gluck, soprano. Accompanied by her husband, Efram Zimbalist. This peculiar number, written by Peter Cornelius, consists of eighty notes all sung on the same tone. An interesting exhibition of artistic skill. Ten inch Red Seal record, $2.00.

74457—Love's Nocturne, a charming song by F. E. Wegtherly and Hope Temple, sung by George Hamlin, tenor, with harp and cello obligato. This is a twelve inch Red Seal record, $1.50.

64480—Noche Serena (Calm Night), a Mexican folk song, sung by Emilio de Gorchoz, baritone. Ten inch Red Seal record, $1.00.

64520—Tambourin, played by Maud Powell, violinist. This eighteenth century gem, written by Jean Marie Leclair, is played with delicacy and grace by Maud Powell. A ten inch Red Seal record at $1.25.

35500—One of the new January dance records. Angel's Dream Waltz and Nightingale Waltz. Both played by Conway's Band. 12 inch record, $1.25.

17782—First offering from the Imperial Quartette of Chicago, recently engaged by the Victor. My Ain Folk and the Perfect Day, beautifully sung by this fine quartette. Ten inch, double faced record, at 75c.

Also two entrancing new Hawaiian Vocal and Instrumental Records. Both are double-faced ten inch records at 75c.

Two more old-time songs by Samuel Grander are another feature of the January list. Also two lively whistling and singing duets.

Two new Nat Wills records, and two specialties by Golden and Marlowe are the newest contributions in the "comics" department. Two splendid gospel song medleys, 35510, including parts from fourteen very well known hymns will prove a very popular record. 12 in., $1.25.

And fifty other attractive and well-chosen selections go to make the January list one of the best ever offered by the Victor.

We invite you to come in and listen to the records in which you may be interested.

times are assembled for their watch over the North sea and from which point big ocean-going submarines are sent on forages to the Baltic and the Dardanelles.

It was an impressive sight of concentrated power and alert readiness, with long lines of battle scarred cruisers stretching seaward and headed by the famous Arctura, back of them a vast flotilla of destroyers, then a countless number of submarines of the latest D and E type, which have recently performed such brilliant work from the Dardanelles to the Bosphorus and throughout the Baltic.

The little fishing village on the coast had been transformed by the war into a vast naval rendezvous, with storehouses stretching a half mile, prepared to re-equip an armada and send it back to sea within two hours of its arrival.

Here also were the "mother" ships, ranged in long lines along the quay, ready to receive back their fighting children each time they came from a raid or a battle.

The huge establishment was vibrating with energy, and in the harbor minesweepers were coming back from their work, hydroplanes were maneuvering and black smoke from the funnels of the cruisers and destroyers told of their readiness to dash out to sea after an enemy craft.

The Arctura and the light cruiser squadron had just returned from scouting along the German coast in search of a German fleet which was said to have ventured out from the Kiel canal. Nothing had been seen of the German ships and the British officers—the same who had now received their stars in the famous fight under Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty—were derisive at the idea that the Germans would venture forth.

One of the officers was in command of the torpedo tubes when they fired the deadly missiles which struck the German cruiser Bluecher and sent her reeling to the bottom in the great fight of last January. He pointed out these self same tubes and told how they had worked.

"First we let go that one," he said, "and then this one. It was this one that hit the Bluecher amidships. She was lying off there about fifteen hundred yards. The thing that impressed me after we hit her was the deadly stillness. It was terribly still until the great big ship threw up her bow, turned dead over and sank."

"Yes, this is the one that did it," and he patted this terrible, death-dealing engine affectionately, as if it were his child, as in truth, it had been since he laid the Bluecher low.

Scars of battle were all over the ship, which the officers pointed out with the pride that a Heidelberg student displays when he exhibits his wounds. A deck galley amidships had been entirely shot away, a melanite shell having exploded in it. This had been rebuilt. One dent in the side armor was pointed out, as big as a wash bowl. The upper works were literally peppered with shrapnel, but the seaward side was bandaged with two-inch riveted steel plates, so that the saucy Arctura was again as good as ever.

The party now went aboard the latest type of big destroyers, which are here ranged in government battle lines with steam up. They are very fast, some of them making 37 or 38 knots, and even touching 42 knots on a measured mile, while all of them regularly do 35 knots on regular service. Lying outside of them were the submarines of the D and E type, the latter being the latest craft of great radius, which are now making distant undersea voyages to the Baltic and the Dardanelles. The smaller D boats have the neat outlines of an eighteen-seated racing shell but the big new ocean rangers are as ugly as some submarine monster, with a steel fin running fore and aft and a rammer's hump amidship for a deck. One of the commanders pointed out their fine qualities.

"They can stay under water for 72 hours," he said, "yes, three days without any inconvenience to the crew from lack of air. The D boats are good for runs of 24 hours under water, but the E boats made 72 hours just as easily. During these long deep water runs they thread their way through the Skerak, or skirt around Tenerife and past Gibraltar, with as much ease under water as if off shore."

The direction and proximity or distance from land are all determined with mathematical accuracy by the science of navigation and the steering goes on as easily under water as above.

There were many famous sea-fighters among the destroyers, including the Lance, which helped sink the Koenig Luise off Harwich and was in the Heligoland battle. In fact, all these ships had seen battle service unless they had just come from the yards and the Arctura men were proud of the fact that she had gone from the shipyard into a battle.

"Yes," said one of her officers, "we got out of the yard on a Saturday; we were in the fight by Wednesday and had sunk a battleship and we were back in the yard again by next Saturday. How is that for a record?"

WOMEN TO AID PRES. WILSON

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The Wilson home guards, an organization of women to work for re-election of President Wilson because of his efforts to keep the United States out of the European war, was formed today at the closing session of the annual convention of the Women's National Democratic league. The league completed plans for aiding actively in the forthcoming national campaign. Card parties for raising funds was one plan outlined by speakers.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was named honorary president, a new office.

BILL PROVIDES FOR BIG STOCK OF GAME

Congressman Hayden Wants National Forests as Preserves

State Game Warden Willard has received a copy of the bill recently presented to congress by Tom, Carl Hayden of this state, the bill providing for the stocking of a number of the national forests with a large and varied supply of game.

Congressman Hayden presented the bill to the house on Tuesday last. It sets forth the fact that the food supply of the country is in need of being enlarged and that if a large stock of game of all kinds is allowed to breed unmolested in the great forest reserves, it will be a material help toward increasing the meat supply.

The measure provides that the matter shall be in charge of the secretary of agriculture, the game sanctuaries to be established when possible on ground not suited to grazing and agricultural purposes. The boundaries of all of the preserves are to be marked suitably and a stiff fine and jail sentence is provided for all violators of the hunting regulations.

Mr. Hayden's suggestion that a large block of territory

WOOL GROWERS HOLD BUSINESS MEETING

Pursuant to a call by President H. J. Gray of the Arizona Wool Growers' association, members of the organization yesterday held a meeting in this city for the purpose of considering a number of questions which had come before the body.

At this time considerable discussion took place in regard to the adjustment of the range question and trail matters.

A committee consisting of J. E. Duggan, Al Beasley and C. W. Charley was named to draft a memorial to congress asking for an adjustment on the wool tariff and also on meat and cattle duties. Congress will also be urged to pass what is known as the pure fabric act and to also give attention to the bill providing for the establishment of the 640-acre homestead law.

JOHN MOUER SHOT ON HUNTING TRIP

Tempe Boy Student at the University Badly Injured by Own Gun

(Special to The Republican.)
TUCSON, Jan. 8.—John Mouer of Tempe, a student of the University, accidentally shot himself in the right shoulder early this afternoon while hunting. He walked to a nearby house where help was called. He was taken to the Arizona hospital where his condition was pronounced bad, but not necessarily serious. His father will arrive at midnight from Tempe.

Father Leaves
Dr. W. W. Mouer of Tempe left last evening for Tucson, having been called there by the injury of his son. A long distance telephone call to the doctor's residence last evening, elicited no response, and no particulars from that end could be obtained. The young man who is well and favorably known in Tempe, has been a life long resident of that place, and entered the University after having graduated from the high school of Tempe.

COST OF YOUR PAVING

Interested parties are circulating statements among the property holders to the effect that their paving will cost from $100 to $600 for a frontage of 50 feet.

These statements are absolutely false and are causing the taxpayers to protest against the improvement.

Your Commission wishes to advise the property owners on the streets it is proposed to pave that several kinds of paving included in the official specifications (of which there are nine) can be laid at a cost not to exceed $25 for 50 feet frontage on a 35-foot street, including curb, gutter, intersections, drainage and all contract extras. None of these pavements are experimental, but are standard specifications and have been laid in other cities. The property holders, however, have their right to select any one of the nine kinds of specifications by a majority petition.

Can you afford to protest against these improvements when you stop to think that your paving will cost you less than Ten Cents per day; that the payments will be distributed over a period of ten years at 6% interest, and that your first payment will not have to be made until January, 1917?

As previously stated in an open letter, we intend to fully recognize your right to protest, but we do feel it our duty to place before you these facts concerning costs, in order that you may be fully advised.
